Just ask the team about our shot luge!

Looking around our ice bar, it's hard to miss the incredible sculptures, detailed carvings and our bar made entirely of ice.

While you may think something like this takes an army, behind it all is just one man: Victor Cagayat. Originally from the Phillipines, where he started his career with wood carving, Victor made the move to New Zealand to become the most sought after ice carver in the country. We have over 25 tonnes of ice in the bar, and every last piece of it is hand carved magic by Victor.

The process to make these extraordinary sculptures starts with melting large blocks of ice together, using a chainsaw to get his desired shape then using a hand file to add every last detail into the sculpture. With all this physical and finely tuned work that goes into our ice bars, Victor remains one of the happiest people we have ever met and we are honoured to showcase his work in Queenstown Ice Bar.
